INTRODUCTION & BACKGROUND

1. Background:

The United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN Women) strives to promote gender equality and women’s human rights, to strengthen implementation of gender sensitive policy and legislation, and to eliminate all forms of violence against women. The strategy in Pakistan encompasses strengthening the capacity of government, non-governmental organizations and UN system to deliver on Pakistan’s national and international commitments on gender equality and women’s empowerment by ensuring that voices of women and human rights-based approach is integrated fully in the development agenda of the country.

UN Women identifies the economic empowerment of women as a priority area. The Women’s Economic Empowerment (WEE) Programme of UN Women Pakistan has been supporting the implementation of national commitments and international frameworks around economic opportunities for women since 2007, and in particular supporting the development of provincial homebased workers’ policies and laws to improve the working conditions of the many rural and urban women in Pakistan undertaking informal homebased work. The main objective of the WEE programme is to empower women to fully participate at all levels of economic activity across all sectors, increased opportunities to earn higher incomes, enhanced access and control over resources, greater security and protection from violence. The WEE programme interventions are aligned with UN Women’s global strategic plan results and focus on economic empowerment of excluded women groups in the country. Generating evidence through research and analysis supports program planning and mainstreaming of women’s economic empowerment. It becomes important to document WEE specific impacts on women’s leadership, access to economic opportunities, assets, markets and other resources.

The purpose of the study is to generate the evidence that can be used to support advocacy initiatives to improve the position of young women and draw attention to the two critical aspects of women's lives that require attention and resources: economic participation and empowerment.

UN Women requires the services of a consulting firm to conduct the study keeping in view the above objective under the WEE programme.

Data on women's economic participation is available through a number of sources, foremost the Labour Force Survey (LFS) conducted by the Pakistan Bureau of Statistics. A detailed analysis that builds on quantitative and qualitative data to provide a comprehensive picture of WEE across different socio-economic groups in the country is needed. Gender equality is not only a fundamental human right, but a necessary foundation for a peaceful, prosperous and sustainable world. Providing women and girls with equal access to education, health care, decent work, and representation in political and economic decision-making processes can fuel sustainable economies and benefit societies and humanity at large.

Empowerment of women (specifically young women) is key to the progress and prosperity of nations as articulated in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). SDG 5 "Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls", which underscores the importance of the elimination of all forms of violence against women/girls, their economic participation, and their sexual and reproductive rights. The total female population of Pakistan is 49% (106 million) of the total population.<sup>1</sup> Pakistan has a young population, with an estimated 29% of total population in the age group 15-29 years, half of which are women. A young population, often referred to as a demographic dividend, presents its own challenges if investments are not made in their education and skills, and employment and participation in civic life and decision-making is not assured. In Pakistan young women are doubly discriminated- as youth and being female. Social and economic gender discrimination keeps girls out of school, women out of college and the workplace and absent from decision making fora in all spheres of life.

RATIONALE

The purpose of the study is to provide a context sensitive analytical and statistical profile of young women with a focus on WEE in Pakistan that can be used to provide strategic direction to policy makers, aid agencies and civil society stakeholders for addressing the key issues.

The proposed focus on young women is based on the demographic profile of Pakistan. Approximately, two-thirds of the total population is below the age of 30. This young population calls for investment in health, education, skill development and creation of job opportunities so that their productive involvement may lead to social wellbeing and economic stability. In this process, young people, especially the women, need to gain social, economic and political empowerment in such a way that would enable them to make their own choices and implement decisions in their lives. Almost 30 percent of the population is between the ages of 15-29 years old. The UNDP 2017 National Human Development Report<sup>2</sup> chose youth as its thematic focus, identifying challenges and opportunities along three dimensions: education, employment and engagement. The proposed report will build on the UNDP report, focusing on economic needs and opportunities for young women.

The report will explore the challenges and opportunities experienced by young women (ages 15-29) in Pakistan, their social, economic and political participation, empowerment and wellbeing and aspirations. The proposed study will rely on secondary data available from different national and sub-national sources and the findings available from qualitative studies, it will map out the opportunities and obstacles that young women encounter, linking the findings with Pakistan’s commitments to the SDGs.
