“Economic Empowerment of Women Homebased Workers and Excluded Groups in Pakistan”

Type of Contract: Project Cooperation Agreement (Implementing Partner)

Based in: KP/FATA – Pakistan

Duration: July 2017 – June 2019 (Tentative)

BACKGROUND

Gender inequality is a recognized issue in Pakistan and the country has the second lowest ranking in the 2016 Global Gender Gap Report of the World Economic Forum on women’s economic participation. Women’s labour force participation is merely 24 percent<sup>2</sup>. Government budget allocated for basic social services such as health and education is not adequate to address the growing population’s needs. 45.6 percent of the Pakistani population is living below the poverty line.<sup>3</sup> 70 percent of Pakistan’s economy is informal and women are overrepresented in it and are usually termed as home-based, piece-rate/ own account workers, or domestic workers with limited access to decent wages or social security benefits. Women home based workers (HBWs) are part of the households that are amongst the poorest of the poor in Pakistan. Women informal workers in both rural and urban areas are largely illiterate and lack financial independence. Violence further exacerbates women’s secondary position in the society and according to the Demographic Health Survey, 32% of married women experience physical violence in Pakistan<sup>4</sup>. During extreme events such as drought, floods and other climate-related disasters, women face additional risks, in large part due to gender inequities that result in women bearing the disproportional brunt of disaster impacts. Women’s subordinate position in the household and society in general and their limited access to economic and social services and financial resources make them more vulnerable.

Similarly, the political, social and economic exclusion of transgender has overwhelmingly exposed them to violence and abuse<sup>5</sup> in Pakistan. Lack of political will in highlighting the issues around transgender and other excluded groups is one of the critical barriers to progress.

<sup>5</sup> The UNAIDS Gap Report 2014 states “estimates from different countries indicate that the transgender population could be between 0.1% and 1.1% of reproductive age adults.” Based on only the current estimate of males between the ages of 15 and 49 in Pakistan, and a conservative proportion of 0.3 of the male population (as in the AEM MSM modelling), the transgender population could be as high as almost 150 000. This percentage is calculated on an estimated 49 269 000 adult males aged 15-49 years in 2015. Population Division of the Department of Economic and Social Affairs of the United Nations Secretariat, World Population Prospects: The 2012 Revision, <http://esa.un.org/unpd/wpp/index.htm>.

The Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW) Committee, while reviewing Pakistan’s fourth periodic report in March 2013, expressed its concerns over the “low participation of women in the formal sector, the job segregation and concentration of women in low-paid and low-skilled jobs and the widening pay gap and lack of legal provisions guaranteeing the principle of equal pay for work of equal value”. It was concerned at “the situation of women working in the informal sector (agriculture, domestic and home-based work) the fact that they are not recognized in the existing labour legislation as workers are unprotected and do not have access to social security and benefits”. The Committee recommended that “Pakistan adopt effective measures in the formal labour market, including temporary special measures, to increase female participation and eliminate both horizontal and vertical occupational segregation; to narrow and close the wage gap between women and men; and to ensure the application of the principle of equal remuneration for equal work and work of equal value, and equal opportunities at work”.

Studies show that improving the level of gender equality in education and employment would lead to better economic growth. There is a positive link between gender equality and per capita GDP and human development indicators<sup>6</sup>. There is growing evidence that gender gaps in labor force participation, entrepreneurial activity, and education obstruct economic growth (Cuberes and Teignier 2014; Esteve-Volart 2004; Klasen and Lamanna 2009). The opportunity for women to earn and control income has been associated with broader economic development (Heintz 2006), and total factor productivity gains (Loko and Diouf 2009).

The vision 2025, Government strategy document based on seven pillars and underlying policy reforms recognizes women as drivers of economic development. Nevertheless, the same document also reflect extremely low female labour force participation in the country.

Pakistan passed an anti-sexual harassment law in 2010 making it obligatory for all public private and social sector organizations to constitute anti-sexual harassment bodies within their organizations to allow for harassment free environment for employees especially for women. Ombudspersons have been appointed in Punjab and Sindh to address the complaints on sexual harassment at workplace. Provinces especially Sindh has made some progress in introducing women friendly legislations in the province and following through the implementation particularly in the public sector.

Women employed in formal work in Pakistan face issues in travelling to work safely. Workplaces are generally not women-friendly. There is a need for the organizations need to ensure that the workplaces are free of harassment and women workers have access to facilities such as the day care. Women lack access to training opportunities to elevate to higher levels of work. Poor representation in terms of numbers and skills of women in trade unions leads to women having no collective voice for their rights. Women are also constrained by social attitudes to women and work. Labour inspection doesn't capture gender dimensions of work adequately and therefore measure to address is missed. There are not enough women in mid management positions.

JUSTIFICATION

UN Women Pakistan provides technical advisory services to the Government and civil society partners to implement women's empowerment agenda in the areas of women's leadership and participation, women's economic empowerment, violence against women and girls, peace and security, humanitarian action and governance and national planning.

UN Women's main objective in the Women's Economic Empowerment (WEE) area is to empower women and excluded groups to fully participate in economic life across all sectors and at all levels of economic activity so that they have better chances to earn higher incomes, have increased access, ownership and control over resources and have greater security and protection from violence. The WEE programme interventions are aligned with UN Women global strategic plan results and focus on economic empowerment of excluded women groups in the country.

Past programming on WEE in the country has achieved a range of results and has contributed in improving poor and excluded women's access to income generating prospects, formal employment and entrepreneurship opportunities, social security benefits while also improving their access to other services such as food security, referral mechanisms on violence against women, rights awareness etc. UN Women has previously collaborated with 11 partners in Punjab, Sindh, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Pakistan Administered Kashmir to enhance the economic empowerment of more than 25,000 women informal workers.

The proposed project will imply integrated approach to economically and socially empower 4,000 women HBWs and excluded groups (including women living with HIV/AIDS, transgender and women with disabilities) from 2 district of KPK (including Peshawar and Sawabi) and FATA (Khyber Agency) to improve their access to income generation, entrepreneurship and decision making processes and will enable them to have a collective voice in highlighting their issues and finding solutions.

Strategies such as institutional strengthening, technical advisory services and capacity enhancement of the Government, civil society organizations and associations and groups of women informal workers and transgender will support the adoption and implementation of policies and laws and generation of gender disaggregated statistics.

The project is expected to bring a positive change in the lives of much larger number of women and transgender than its stipulated sample owing to its strategies to involve the local Governments and private sector to warrant sustainability and upscaling of the interventions.

Women informal workers and other right holders will be selected based on the vulnerability criteria including women with disabilities, HIV positive, transgender, ethnic and religious minorities and women from disaster affected areas in KPK and FATA.

The proposed intervention will be rolled out in KP and FATA. UN Women will also engage with National and Federal Government to strengthen data and budget processes from gender perspective and support the Government in monitoring progress on sustainable development goals to promote gender equality.

A two-stage procedure will be utilized in evaluating of the proposals; the technical proposal will be evaluated with a minimum pass requirement of 70% of the obtainable 800 points assigned for technical proposal. A proposal shall be rejected at this stage if it fails to achieve the minimum technical threshold of 70% of the obtainable score of 800 points prior to any price proposal being opened and compared. The financial proposal will be opened only for those entities whose technical proposal achieved the minimum technical threshold of 70% of the obtainable score of 800 points and are determined to be compliant. Non-compliant proposals will not be eligible for further consideration.

Evaluation of financial proposal:

In this methodology, the maximum number of points assigned to the financial proposal is allocated to the lowest price proposal. All other price proposals receive points in inverse proportion.

A formula is as follows:

$$p = y (\mu/z)$$

Where:

p = points for the financial proposal being evaluated

y = maximum number of points for the financial proposal

$\mu$  = price of the lowest priced proposal

z = price of the proposal being evaluated

The contract shall be awarded to the proposal obtaining the overall highest score after adding the score of the technical proposal and the financial proposal.
